

2018 Pengrowth - Nova Scotia Energy Innovation Grant

Dear CBU Researchers:

Nova Scotia's strong and vibrant energy sector continues to be a rich source of well-paying and rewarding careers, in offshore oil and gas as well as the growing renewable energy industry. The current activity in combination with exciting energy prospects have given rise to programs that are furthering our energy sector through new, innovative research and fresh ideas from recent graduates.

The Province of Nova Scotia and Pengrowth Energy Corporation are pleased to provide a $10,000 grant to a student preparing to begin full-time studies in a Master level program every year. This grant is designed to support researchers investigating areas of importance in Nova Scotia's energy sector, enrolled in Earth Sciences, Environmental Sciences, Business, or Engineering at a Nova Scotia university.

In addition to meeting the high standards of academic achievements, recipients of the Pengrowth Nova Scotia Energy Innovation Grant should be well-rounded individuals with a variety of interests that may include volunteer work, sports and/or other community-based activities.

Research Grants valued at $10,000, a renewable $5,000 over two years, are awarded annually to students pursuing graduate research directly related to Nova Scotia's energy sector.

The application deadline is January 19th, 2018 (4 pm AST). Students selected for this award will be notified by the end of February 2018. Additional details are available on the NS Department of Energy website at energy.novascotia.ca or by calling the Department of Energy at (902) 424-1559. The Application Form for the Pengrowth - Nova Scotia Energy Innovation Grant attached here will be also available on the website.
